From the Editor

By Liz Macann

What a spectacular month it has been for daffodils, though not much else unless you count wind. The bulbs that were planted by walkers passing the 'bonfire field' by Garden Cottage produced a magnificent display.

Great idea, Helen, and their simple beauty has helped to offset the impact of the horrendous stories of war and horror that we have been experiencing daily in the media. On page 12 some local residents were part of a story carried by the Daily Express talking about what efforts are being made in this area to support refugees from Ukraine, whilst other villagers have been organising events to help in different ways – see page 11.

With Covid subsiding into a more manageable, though by no means eradicated, problem, the communities returned to celebrating Easter in their usual style. Family gatherings and schoolyard fun were back on the map with egg hunts and easter bonnets and of course many of us revving up for street parties in June; see page 3 for details of the main village event.

From this edition, information about Church Services and events can now be found each month in Dear Diary towards the back of the Newsletter.

Next month's editor will be Phil Harrison. Please email material for the June edition to him by 12th May at theleeneewsletter@gmail.com

Jubi-Lee past

To the Editor

All the talk and planning for the Jubilee in June 2022, brought back memories of June 2002 when The Lee was 'en fête' for the Queen's Golden Jubilee.

At Lee Common School on the Friday afternoon, celebrations and a big party were organised and funded by the LCSA. Every child was presented with a Golden Jubilee mug.

The village organising committee, headed up by the indefatigable Gill Chudley, coordinated a procession and fancy dress parade over the weekend from Lee Common School led by the May Queen and Master of Ceremonies from the school's May Day celebrations. I remember that a rickshaw formed part of the procession to the green where crowds had gathered to watch.

Jon Swain was MC and joined Mrs Stewart-Liberty and others to welcome many village groups as they passed by, including The Lee WI, now sadly defunct.

There was a special church service on the Sunday and the gardens at Kingswood House and Kingswood Cottages were open for the National Gardens Scheme. The money raised from the delicious teas went to the Church.

It appears that St John the Baptist Church also had a part in the Queen's Coronation, some of the preliminary rehearsals were held there, with stands for the major players, of course.

The Jubilee weekend was blessed by amazing weather and many helping hands, here's hoping that 20 years on, we are as fortunate.

Jubi-Lee present

To the Editor

I wonder if anyone can help me please?

The Lee Jubilee Committee will be displaying memorabilia from previous village jubilee celebrations in the parish hall on Friday 3rd June. We are therefore looking for photos, mugs and any other relevant items that you could kindly lend us for the occasion.

Please contact me if you have anything interesting on 01494 837546 or at caroladdison21@hotmail.com.

Many thanks.

Mike on a bike

To the Editor

My wife Carol and I have lived by the school in Lee Common since 1985. For the past few years Carol has been coping with leukaemia and Anthony Nolan provided a life-saving donor service for her. Consequently, I wish to thank this charity by raising funds. Therefore, I shall be starting a cycle ride from Land's End to John o'Groats on Sunday 15th May to raise money on behalf of Anthony Nolan. If you would like to read our story or contribute to the cause it would be much appreciated; you can find details at <https://www.justgiving.com/fundraising/michael-addison6>. Thank you.

If you would like to meet me and my trusty E-bike 'Pedals' before my trip, then I will be by Shop at The Lee on Saturday 7th May between 9:00 am and 12:00 noon. See you then.

The Queen's Platinum Jubi-Lee

By Philip Harrison

The community celebration event for the Jubi-Lee will take place on Friday 3rd June.

The planning group (Carol Addison, Mary Campbell, Enzo D'Alessandro, Mary Godfrey, Catherine May, Claudia Phipps, Helen Osborne and myself) have put together a programme designed to give everyone the opportunity to participate in some or all of it. Whatever takes your fancy. Subject to final confirmation in next month's newsletter, here is the outline programme.

Lunch

The Cock and Rabbit on The Lee green will be open for lunchtime serving Platinum Pints, Pimms and Platters. Booking is essential 01494 837540.

Games on the green @ 2:00 pm

Games from the 1950s including a tug of war.

Crowning glory @ 2:30 pm

Judging for the 'Best Crown' and 'Queen for the Day'.

Jubi-Lee parade @ 3:00 pm

Everyone is welcome to be part of the parade from The Lee green to the Parish Hall. The theme is the 1950s in Red, White & Blue. Crowns to be worn.

Parish picnic @ 3:30 pm

Bring your own picnic and plates to share to the Parish Hall. Tables and chairs, marquees, decorations will be set up in the car park and on the grass.

Wine, beer and ice creams will be available to buy. Additionally tea will be provided.

The children's entertainer, Magic Carl, will be performing between 4:00 pm and 4:45 pm.

Hopefully a choir (see page 5) plus live music during the picnic along with taped music across the decades for dancing too.

A display of memorabilia from days gone by in the village will be inside the Parish Hall.

Kwik-Cricket with bar and BBQ @ 6:00 pm

The Lee Cricket Club have invited the community to come and enjoy watching their Kwik-Cricket whilst enjoying their barbecue and well-stocked bar.

A pleasant way to round off what we hope will be an enjoyable community day to celebrate the Platinum Jubilee.

Preparing for the day

Create a crown

By The Big Jubilee Lunch

You will need

- Two A4 sheets of thick paper or thin card
- Felt tip pens or coloured pencils
- Tinfoil
- Embellishments to add sparkle (old or broken jewellery or pressed flowers)
- Glue
- Scissors
- Sticky tape or stapler

Instructions

1. Print the crown template from TheBigJubileeLunch.com/Crown onto one of the sheets of card. Alternatively draw it.
2. Use the pens or pencils to colour it in.
3. Cover in tinfoil and decorate with sparkly bits to make it look fancy.
4. Use the second sheet of card to create your headband. Cut three horizontal strips (about 5cm wide) and tape or staple together to form one long strip.

5. Carefully cut out your decorated crown, add glue and stick in the centre of your headband.
6. Wrap the band around your head and tape or staple to the correct size. That's it.

Sing for the Queen

Creative-Lee Decorating The Lee for the Jubilee!

By Mary Godfrey

Please don't be scared of us! We just want to create a little bit of colour and fun in the village for the Jubilee. Here's a few ways in which you can join in. Do you knit? Why not decorate the front gate with your finest pieces, or wrap a scarf around a tree. Got some old tester pots of paint in the shed? Then find some stones and paint them as close to red, white and blue as you can get! I know some of you are growing flowers specially for the summer of celebrations, so fill your wheelbarrow with those beautiful blooms and place it out the front. Feeling adventurous?

Remembered with kissing gates

By Colin Sully and Peter Towersey

Barnaby Usborne's last article for the Newsletter reflected on one of his favourite topics – kissing gates. He was instrumental in bringing (through the Chiltern Society) a huge number to The Lee. The first official one was put at the bottom of the Park and many, many more followed. He once commented “I heard from the county council, who supply the gates, that The Lee had more kissing gates than any other parish in the county”.

Well, it has even more now thanks to the generosity and support of the Chiltern Society Path Maintenance Volunteers (PMVs) who have financed, installed and dedicated to Barnaby two new kissing gates along the path from Lee Gate towards Rabbs (TLE/7/10 to give it its official title).

Barnaby was a PMV and their quarter-master for many years, installing new gates and maintaining paths all over the Chilterns.

Our thanks to the local PMVs for enabling these new gates in The Lee... and our thanks again to Barnaby for enhancing so many parts of the Chilterns.

The Lee in living memory

This month, we include an extract from Susan Cowdy's memories, as published in the book 'The Lee in Living Memory – Voices from a special Chiltern parish', copies of which remain available at the Shop at The Lee.

Susan Cowdy (1914 – 1996)

Susan was the daughter of Ivor Stewart-Liberty who inherited The Lee Manor from his uncle, Sir Arthur Lasenby Liberty. She lived at the Manor and also at Pipers. She records:

"Sir Arthur's mother, Rebecca, had long white ringlets. She had a lot of children. Some of them were killed, but like all Victorian families, they had an awful lot of children, so they didn't always notice if one or two disappeared. She was driving her pony and trap with one or two of her children in it towards Chartridge when coming towards her in a narrow lane was a great big farm horse pulling a farm dray. To her horror she saw that the driver was fast asleep and didn't see them coming and he drove into them and crushed them against a wall and two of the children were killed.

“Arthur brought back many treasures from the Far East, Japan and China. One of them was a pair of enormous lead dogs which he installed at the rear entrance to The Manor. The one with the teeth and very ornate curlicue horns was the male and the other was the female. My brothers and I used to keep our money in the male’s stomach. My great Aunt Emma Liberty was so horrified by his curlicue private parts she had them cut off.

“They mowed the lawns with a pony dragging the mowing machine. It was guided by Mr Marcham who lived at The Gate Lodge. The pony wore shoes so that it didn’t make marks in the grass.”

Out of this world

By Peter Macann

“Without doubt, THAT will be the oldest object you will ever handle in your lifetime.” I looked at my neighbour, Professor Jamie Wilkinson, and it was clear that he had spoken with a blend of amusement and total confidence. I glanced again at the object I was holding – a small sheet of silvery metal about four millimetres thick with a surface shape of a small, deflated rugby ball with jagged, irregular edges. Unimpressive to say the least.

As for it being the oldest object I would ever handle... I considered for a moment the small collection of fossils I have at home dating back around 200 million years and wondered if I could smugly refute his claim. But what he said next was utterly astonishing.

“Let me tell you, that is over four and a half billion years old... in fact probably quite a bit older than the Earth itself!”

Well that immediately begged the question: how on earth can I be holding an object that is older than the planet itself?

Fortunately, Jamie was able to explain to me that he had brought it from the Natural History Museum where he works. His purpose was to excite the interest of the children of the Lee Common and Great Missenden schools... but, of course, he also knew that I – the oldest kid around – would be utterly fascinated. (How often do we say how lucky we are to have a community that is filled with such a cross section of talents and interests and a desire to share them with others.)

So, what was the story he told me of this extraordinary piece of ancient history?

Well, as you have probably guessed, it was a cross section slice of a meteorite, of a type known as an iron meteorite. It fell some 5,000 years ago in the deserts of Australia – probably witnessed by the local ancient Aborigines of the time (3,000 BC) since they believed the crater of the landing site to be sacred ground. But modern geological analysis has revealed the full story.

Astonishingly, that meteorite fragment in my hand dated back to the very formation of the Solar System. These were cosmically turbulent times soon after the big bang. Particles of material were hurtling around through space over billions of years, crashing into each other, sometimes sticking together to form bigger lumps, then blasting each other apart with their collisions. Slowly our Solar system began to create the planets we know today... but still they crashed into each other to split off lumps – as happened with our Earth to create our moon.

Some baby planets, though, had matured to form magnetic cores, fundamentally made up of iron and nickel and (in the case of Earth) heated to some 6,000 degrees Celsius. At some point in their wanderings in space these more developed planets also became involved in massive collisions that blasted them open, releasing the metal cores. No doubt some went on to become new planets, but the debris left over floated aimlessly around that particle dumping ground we know as the Asteroid Belt.

So it was with this small meteorite. It is impossible to imagine the billions of miles it must have hurtled through the darkness of space over billions of years before finally submitting to the lure of Earth's gravity. But it is the fact that it is a small fragment of a lost planet's core that is so fascinating to the scientists, allowing them to understand better the core of our Earth and its magnetic field that is vital in so many ways to our very survival.

I feel sure that for those scientists studying this extra terrestrial object, the pursuit of knowledge of its age and history must be an extremely exciting intellectual endeavour – casting light on the existence of humanity itself. But for me, it was plain visceral – a very distinct and very physical tingling in the spine.

HUSC... kick off event

By Mary Godfrey

On 4th April, at the first meeting of the Hilltop Ukrainian Support Community group (HUSC), all 50 chairs provided were filled with members of our community wanting to pitch in and help the Ukrainian refugees hopefully coming to live with local hosts. So far, 29 families have come forward from within the villages wishing to host and Ballinger Hall was full of people eager to help them bear the load.

Sarah Graham, Ballinger resident and one of the driving forces behind the local initiative, explains the genesis of the group: "We are all moved by what we are seeing. It's a desperate time for the Ukrainians and we want to help provide safety and support for them in various ways. After days of watching the horrendous humanitarian situation on the news, as a family we felt we had to do something practical to help, and with the government's Homes for Ukraine programme, we knew how we could achieve that."

Along with their friends Chloe and Boycie Lewis, and Rachel and Mike Harris, they went through the process of finding families together, which Sarah says was really helpful. "As we are a group of semi-rural villages, some of us were concerned that our location could be an isolating place to come to. I contacted a few of my more immediate neighbours, and then lots of us were messaging on The Lee Forum. Many people came forward and, when we had our first meeting, it gave us the reassurance that by working together, we could make it a success.”

Feeling the urgency of the situation they found the families they will be hosting themselves. “We were approached by two Ukrainian mums who are currently in temporary accommodation in Poland. Each with a set of twin boys, the families do not want to be separated. So after talking with them, and WhatsApp video calling them numerous times, we will be hosting one family and Rachel Harris in The Lee will be hosting the other family. It feels very reassuring for both them and us to be doing this together.”

At the community meeting, the evening was well planned and enabled the assembled gathering to get to know each other through some very effective exercises and prepare the ground for us all to meet and get to know our imminent guests.

People who couldn't make the community event on the 4th had a chance to review the work done at an extremely well attended coffee morning in Ballinger Hall on 8th April organised by Chloe Lewis. At the time of writing, this had raised £2,410 for the British Red Cross Ukraine Crisis Appeal.

The hosts that have managed to find families are in contact with their new guests, messaging or speaking almost every day, making an effort to get to know each other better before they arrive. As they empty cupboard space, prepare bedrooms and think about what they need to do differently so they can co-live with another family, the refugees will start to make their way here. Not where they want to be, but hopefully to a safe and welcoming place for the next six months at least. At the end of the HUSC event Sarah showed us some thoughts that the refugees had shared with her. One really emphasised the shocking consequences of their plight, “Everything I’ve worked so hard for has gone. And I will never get it back.”

We will be distributing flyers in the area with details of how to donate, and whether it is unwanted clothes, some new toiletries, money or your time you choose to give, please give generously. To get involved email us at huscchilterns@gmail.com

There are many parts of this initiative that will require funding. We will be holding fundraising events but in the meantime if anyone would like to make a donation, please visit our Just Giving page at <https://www.justgiving.com/crowdfunding/hilltopvillages>; we would be very grateful for any contributions.

A version for our times...

By Donnie Lonegan

For those of you old enough to remember the songs of the late great Lonnie Donegan, here is one of his most famous, re-versioned for our times. It should be sung to the tune of Putting on the agony, putting on the style.... and now becomes Putin lives in agony; Putin never smiles

Vlad Zelensky lies in bed, woken by the noise
 Russian tanks are shelling and killing his young boys,
 He turns his head and weeps a tear for Putin's bloody guile
 'Cos Nato will not help him fight – at least not for a while.

Oh! Putin lives in agony, Putin never smiles

Putin's heart is filled with hate, his soul is sick with bile;

*Democratic union to him is simply vile
 He threatens nuclear holocaust – “cos the West is so hostile!”*

Russian soldiers sent by Vlad are told they're being kind Killing Nazi addicts – for them the truth is blind.

But then they find no welcome in the land they've come to aid Instead... the open arms they meet will throw a hand grenade.

So, Putin lives in agony, Putin never smiles

From the Vicarage

By Revd Chris Haywood

As I write it's a year to the day since we moved to The Lee and became a part of this community. I know this because we moved on our wedding anniversary – 13th April. I was inducted on 29th April. As we reflect on our first year here we're grateful for the warmth and generosity of the welcome and the willingness to get on board with the ministry I hope I am facilitating. There is always more to do and building on the relationship with the school and scouts is high on my list. Things are definitely moving here and we're encouraged.

Normally our wedding anniversary would fall after Easter, enabling us to celebrate. This year however Easter is late, not quite as late as it can be (which Google tells me is 25th April) but almost! So instead of a night out at the Cock and Rabbit (as we did last year) we'll celebrate our anniversary a week later during our post Easter holiday... Of course given that I'm writing for a copy date well ahead of publication these dates will have come and gone by the time you read this. As will Easter. It's strange to be writing as we approach the most important event in the Church year, which will have been celebrated and passed when you read this, without being in a position to report how its gone.

However, such a predicament gives me my lead for what I really want to say. Often as we approach Good Friday, when we mark the terrible sacrifice Jesus made on our behalf, we want to rush on to Easter Sunday and the glorious resurrection, Jesus' triumph over death and the grave. We'll have commemorated and celebrated by the time you read this. But as I write before Easter I try and hold the discipline of staying in the moment – dwelling in the implications of the death of Jesus on my behalf and allowing the depth of his sacrifice to sink in. It's hard as we want to rush onto resurrection glory, but we shouldn't so easily pass over Good Friday... There is a reason why the cross is the symbol of the Christian Faith and not an empty tomb...

In our run up to Easter we also marked Mothering Sunday with a special service. It's a very difficult service to lead and get the tone right. Some are there quite rightly to celebrate their mothers and motherhood, but many are hurting, perhaps grieving the loss of their mother or because they never had the chance to be a mother. We sought to ensure the service was sensitive to these circumstances too and that there was an opportunity to commemorate such circumstances with the lighting of a candle as well as giving out posies of flowers. I hope we got it right.

We are now looking forward to Ascension Day and Pentecost which we will mark at the end of May (25th May) and beginning of June (5th June). The story of Jesus' victory over the grave isn't complete without linking his death and resurrection to his ascension and the sending of the Holy Spirit. Do join us on these occasions to discover more about how these events fit into our understanding of Jesus' mission of salvation.

God bless.

Annual Parish Meeting

I touched briefly in the last edition on the origins of the Annual Parish Meeting (APM), so thought I would provide a little more detail this month.

As mentioned previously, the Annual Parish Meeting is a legacy from the Middle Ages, when all local decision making was carried out by meetings of the whole community, and is the one opportunity in the year when all residents have the right to attend and speak on any matter of local interest.

Annual Parish Meetings are quite distinct from Parish Council meetings, although the two are often confused.

In The Lee the Annual Parish Meeting is organised by the Council and by law must be held between 1st March and 1st June, although in fact an additional meeting can be called at any time by six registered electors of the parish. With the exception of the Chair, councillors rank the same as other members of the electorate. Any topic can be added to the agenda of an APM by any member of the public at any time, including during the meeting, and may include any matter pertinent to the parish.

The press and general public are very welcome at APMs, but anyone not on the electoral register of The Lee parish is designated "a stranger" and does not have the right to vote. That means that registered electors in The Lee, Lee Common, Hunts Green, Swan Bottom, Lee Gate and Kings Ash can vote, whereas anyone from Ballinger, South Heath or Potter Row – no matter how well we know and like them – is, in this context, a stranger.

In contrast, although residents are of course welcome to attend all regular meetings of the Parish Council, legally they are only permitted to speak if invited to do so by the Chair. Only councillors can request items to be added to the agenda of a PC meeting, and the agenda must be published three days in advance of the meeting. The only subjects eligible to be discussed are those on which the council has the power to act.

In summary, an Annual Parish Meeting is a meeting of the people of the parish, whilst a Parish Council Meeting is a meeting of the parish councillors.

We very much look forward to welcoming residents to the Annual Parish Meeting being held from 7:00 pm to 7:30 pm on 17th May, and discussing whatever issues are raised.

Homes for Ukraine

The Lee Parish Council is not directly involved in the Homes for Ukraine scheme; that is being managed by a team at Bucks Council, with many council employees having volunteered to become Support Liaison Officers (SLOs).

Each SLO will be assigned to a small number of host families, initially helping streamline things like DBS, housing and safeguarding checks, and will aim to visit within 48 hours of the guests' arrival. SLOs will be the main point of contact for both hosts and guests, and can offer to find help with socialising, transport, language classes (taught by TEFL teachers in Chesham and other locations), GP registration, school registration etc. They will provide a welcome pack of information (in both Ukrainian and Russian) along with a small cash amount for each person and will continue to check in roughly once a week – more frequently at first and then less often as things get more settled.

The Chesham and Rural Villages Community Board is also offering a welcome pack containing items like a six-month SIM card. Additionally, they are working very closely with the Chesham Food Bank to supply food, toiletries and anything else that might be needed.

Anyone wishing to make a financial donation can contribute to the Heart of Bucks appeal at www.totalgiving.co.uk/appeal/helping-hand-ukraine

Fayrfax is back

... for the Summer

By The Lee Old Church Trust Committee

After two years of restrictions, we're delighted to be able to announce that dreamy summer sounds are finally going to be breezing around The Lee Old Church again on Saturday 25th June.

The first of our 2022 season of events, this very special concert will feature that magical group of madrigal singers, the Fayrfax Consort, who will be putting on an atmospheric, al fresco, performance of songs specially chosen to complement the fairest of the seasons in the Church grounds.

Led by David Ireson, the talented Music Director of St Albans Chamber Opera, the Consort's tranquil playlist will include midsummer madrigals, pretty part songs plus some seasonal gems. There'll also be a selection of light-hearted readings to add to the summer vibe.

It won't just be the glorious music that will make this a sensational summer evening out though. Once the last notes have drifted away, you'll be able to chat with friends over canapés and a glass of wine in the grounds of The Lee Old Church.

Oh, and don't worry about summer showers dampening the mood – should raindrops threaten, we'll simply switch the soirée to one of our two beautiful Churches.

Tickets are £15 each, including refreshments. But if you want to be sure of your seats for this very special event, you'll need to get in fast. Call Pam Garner on 837501 or Jilly Carleton-Smith on 837205, now.

Breaking bread

By Symeon Economou

At the time of writing, we are just a couple of days into a search for a new bakery supplier, Darvells having given us just one week's notice of their intention to stop supplying us. Whilst it is natural to be put off by the way this was communicated, we should not forget the 15 years or so they have supplied the shop, especially through the two Covid lockdowns. As for the Shop, we need to view this as an opportunity to review our bakery offering and see if we can change things up a bit.

Also, right now we are in the throes of Orthodox weekend on 23rd April. I wish I could reproduce the excitement we felt as children in 1950's Cyprus when the travelling market – the panayiry – was due to visit our village, especially the tastes and smells of the great eclectic variety of food that was not normally available to us. I must resist the temptation to go on at some length but have to mention just one of the delights... the souvlakia.

I feel sorry for anyone who has never had this from a bona fide street vendor. Almost charred fatty pork and lamb straight off the skewer into a hot fluffy pitta bigger than both of your hands. Add chopped (proper) tomatoes and chopped fresh coriander and a squeeze of lemon. But it's not finished yet! It would not be the same without the hustle and bustle, the pushing and shoving, the sounds of people, chickens and the occasional donkey and the smells of food, sweat and camel. You've now reached perfection! We ought to try to recreate this sometime, although the camel might be difficult...

As a pale reflection we have the annual Greek event at the Shop which will have been and gone by the next edition, but I'll let you know how it went.

The Lee Flower Show

16th July 2022

By Jonathan Batten

Soon after you read this there will be a reassuring thud on your door mat as physical evidence that the flower show is happening becomes manifest. Your personal copy of the schedule has been delivered through your letter box.

It is new, it has been updated, it is in full colour, so take your time to read, mark, learn and inwardly digest. Keep it on your kitchen table, on your bedside cabinet, in your potting shed or greenhouse for easy reference.

How about your vegetables, fruit or cultivated flowers?

If you like pot plants, but haven't already got a prize specimen, no worries, go out and buy one by 16th May, feed it, talk to it, nurture it and enter it.

Come on you budding flower arrangers, the floral art class is there for the taking!

THE LEeway – YOUR VILLAGE SUPPORT TEAM

If you have difficulty getting to your doctor or the hospital, doing your shopping or would like a home visit and a friendly chat, then please ring:

07845 029500

Mon - Fri: 10 am - 4 pm. Sat: 10 am - 12 noon. Please give us reasonable notice of your requirement to help us organise it.

Cookery classes are open to all – there's a particularly tasty Grenada spice cake recipe for class 75 so get stuck in and beat some sense into some butter, sugar and eggs. Don't forget to donate half your cake to the tea tent – remember from last month's article that we are also keen to recruit your help in the tea tent.

Handicrafts give scope for all types of skills and the photographic subjects are a challenge to all.

Please encourage your children and grandchildren to join in – there are classes for all age groups and special classes for Lee Common School.

Let them do the exhibits themselves – some overzealous parents have been known to contribute just a little too much but the judges are shrewd enough to know...

If you live slightly outside the area there is no need to feel left out of the fun as there are Visitors' classes for all of you too.

What does this all add up to on the day? A sense of achievement in honest competition and, of course, points. What do points mean? Points mean prizes and particular collections of the most points mean cups and trophies which you can proudly display on your mantelpiece for the next year!

If, as we expect, your copy of the schedule becomes too dog eared and worn from constant study then download a copy from the village website at <https://www.thelee.org.uk/the-lee-flower-show/> and later... live with The Sweet and Lowdown

Tickets are £23 each for The Lee Flower Show Dance and will go on sale from 3rd June.

Make a day and a night of it!

HS2 update

By Cllr Colin Sully

There are two local aspects of the design of HS2 in the Chilterns AONB which remain unresolved and subject to continuing debate: the north portal of the Chiltern tunnel at South Heath and the Leather Lane overbridge.

1. Chiltern tunnel: north portal

This part of the railway's design is identified as a 'Key Design Element' (KDE) i.e. a significant feature on which the project is required to engage with the local community during the development of its detailed design.

The Main Works Contactor (MWC) – in this case Align – held public engagement events, online and face-to-face at Missenden Abbey, at the end of March. The general response has again been that the project has come to the local community far too late to seek its views on the design and all we are left with is a choice between a green or grey roof and the degree of ‘slatiness’ of the ancillary building, described by some as a ‘liquorice lozenge’ and by others as a ‘sardine can’ – see below.

Email: bookings@kingshillcars.co.uk

Complaints have been raised all the way up to the Minister on this issue (in the same way that complaints were raised over the Amersham Ventilation Shaft design). It is to be hoped that Bucks Council, the planning authority who in the end must approve the design, will be able to influence it further.

2. Leather Lane overbridge

This local overbridge was never identified as a KDE, and the MWC – in this case EKFB – began by designing a crossing at the location approved by Parliament, on the south side of the existing lane.

The Leather Lane campaign group have argued however that the line of oaks on the south side of Leather Lane forms an important wildlife corridor, used by bats travelling between roosts in the woods and feeding areas in the valley. The group is arguing that the new road should therefore be on the north side, in order to preserve a greater number of trees.

EKFB have so far rejected this option and argue that they are taking all necessary steps to mitigate the ecological impacts.

Having now tabled both sets of plans and arguments we await a confirmed date when the engineers, ecologists, local residents and lawyers can get together to thrash this out. It is all very reminiscent of the many trips to Parliament during the Bill’s Select Committee stages.

The Lee Parish Council has so far taken the view that, if there is a possibility that the road might be moved from Great Missenden Parish into The Lee then, whilst in principle it would support a solution with a reduced environmental impact, such a change would clearly affect residents of The Lee and therefore detailed plans and impacts would need to be seen, and residents consulted, before a formal view could be taken.

Other local news

Two of the four ‘No HS2 works traffic’ signs have been installed on roads off the A413/B485 (on Frith Hill and Kings Lane, South Heath); we await confirmed dates for the other two (Leather Lane and Rocky Lane).

HS2/EKFB Mobile Visitor Centre

The HS2/EKFB ‘Mobile Visitor Centre’ is being scheduled to visit The Lee in May (date and details to be confirmed on the forum). Do come along and ask all those questions you have been saving up!

Project engagement

Local councillors continue to press the project and Bucks Council on local issues. Residents are also encouraged to complain to HS2 Ltd whenever they see or hear anything which they think could be better mitigated. There is a note on “How to complain about HS2” at www.thelee.org.uk/HS2complaints/ that they need to connect to your computer in order to cancel a fraudulent transaction on your account. Regardless of the narrative the fraudsters use, their goal is to steal your money or access your financial information by tricking you into allowing them to remotely connect to your computer.

Detective Chief Inspector Craig Mullish, from the City of London Police, said:

“While remote access tools are safe when used legitimately, we want the public to be aware that they can be misused by criminals to perpetrate fraud. We often see criminals posing as legitimate businesses in order to trick people into handing over control of their computer or smartphone.

In the case of a recommendation for a service provider whose details are ‘advertised’, this is not an issue. However, please take care that you have consent to share it, when putting someone else’s information on the forum.

Serving The Lee

How is the forum serving the residents of The Lee?

Well, nearly two-thirds of the adult population of The Lee are registered – not perfect, but not too bad, we think.

Living in The Lee and not yet a member of the forum? Then, complete the application form at <https://www.thelee.org.uk/new-user>

Of The Lee residents that are registered, just over half get emailed with the first posting to every new topic on the forum and a third also get every posting thereafter. Over half of The Lee residents registered have started a new topic and/or posted a reply to a topic – again, not bad, we think.

There are however 41 registered residents of The Lee who don't seem to have set a password, which means they won't be able to see any postings at all.

If you are one of these residents and need help to set up a password, then answers to various frequently asked questions can be found on the Common Problems page of the website www.thelee.org.uk/common-problems/

Support for Ukrainian guests

Following discussions between The Lee Forum administrators and HUSC (see page 11) it has been agreed that it is inappropriate for the forum to be used to discuss specific families needing help.

If you need some advice about a particular aspect of the forum, please email us at admin@thelee.org.uk giving details of the problem.

Lee Common School news

By Claire Gresswell,
Headteacher

High days and holidays!

In last year's April and May issues, news from Lee Common School was all about optimism and joyful learning. I am happy to say that, once again, these attitudes pervade our school building. It must have something to do with the season and the happy events that punctuate the school calendar in the spring and summer terms; it certainly has something to do with the wonderful community that supports us.

At the time of writing, we have just said goodbye to our little ducklings, hatched so perfectly in time for Easter. Once again, they brought much joy and excitement and provided our children with the opportunity to witness growth and change, to learn about life-cycles and to marvel at the wonders of nature. This really has become one of the highlights of the school year and we are once again indebted to our parent body, the LCSA for funding the project.

The LCSA have always done so much for our children and the school community. A few years ago, parents decided to prioritise the funding of a new playframe for the children in the rear playground. The pandemic and subsequent lockdowns caused this to be delayed, but I am delighted to report that we have managed to fast track delivery and the new frame will be installed this month. We are so grateful to parents past and present for this gift which will be enjoyed by pupils for years to come. The monkey bar challenge is back!

Our current LCSA are full of energy and enthusiasm. Following on from the brilliant Christmas Fair, their 'Tea on the Lee' events have proved very popular with parents and residents alike and their Easter Trail and picnic was a huge success. Children of all ages took part and, despite the chilly temperatures, had a wonderful time on the school meadow, playing games and finding eggs. They have also given our children movie nights, school discos and organised the planting and picking of flowers for Mothers' Day at the school allotment. All these events are incredibly important, not just for the funds they raise, but for the sense of community and belonging they create for our children and of course for the happy memories they make which will last a lifetime.

We look forward to our next highlight; our May Day celebrations. Thanks to some willing (and very patient) parent volunteers, our neighbours have been treated to the sounds of country dancing in the playground and have reported their delight at witnessing the 'joyful chaos' that ensues around the maypole. It would appear that, of all the things the children need to get right for a good maypole dance, holding onto a ribbon is the most challenging! We are looking forward to performing the dances at our May Day celebration in school and at the forthcoming village fete and will no doubt be reporting on both in the next issue. For now, all of us at Lee Common wish you a very joyful May!

Bridge too far?

4♦	pass	5♦	pass
pass	pass	pass

In practice, 5♦ does make, although it was not easy to play.

5♣ would have been much easier and even 3NT makes – but would have been risky to bid, with East having no hearts.

The Lee Newsletter is published 10 times a year and distributed free to all households in the parish... and a little beyond. The views expressed in it are not necessarily those of the Editor.

We welcome letters and articles of interest and relevance to The Lee. Copy should be sent to the Editor of the month (see page 1) by the 12th of the month before publication.

Letters should ideally run to no more than 200 words and articles to no more than 700 words; material may be edited and may appear on the village website www.thelee.org.uk unless consent is specifically withheld. Anonymous contributions are not accepted.

To advertise in the newsletter or place an insert, please contact Hannah Lane at hannahcmlane@gmail.com or on 07747 114640, by the 12th of the previous month.

If you have photographs for publication please contact Jonathan Batten on 837450 or email battenjonathan@hotmail.com

For queries regarding distribution contact Phil Harrison on 837469.

Other members of the Editorial team: Paul Apicella, Ruth Fowler, Mary Godfrey, Liz Macann, Jen Ogley, Adam Speller and Colin Sully.

The wye Partnership

It's our business so we care.

The Wye Partnership gained their knowledge and developed their expertise within the most successful estate agents in High Wycombe. On witnessing the take over of these long established companies by nationwide chains we recognised the need for the retention of a local and independent service. Our recent merger makes the enlarged Partnership the strongest Independent in South Bucks and The Chilterns!

All the partners have invested their own money into the Wye Residential Partnership and all truly believe that our business will be built on delivering excellent service to our clients. This means you can be confident that we will deliver on all aspects of Estate Agency in an honest, open and transparent way.

If you are looking to buy, sell or let in High Wycombe or the surrounding Chiltern villages then contact an estate agency that is motivated by your success and talk to The Wye Partnership.
